Disabled Wilkins Sub at Mercy of Atlantic Seas

U. S. BATTLESHIPS ARE STANDING BY TO EFFECT RESCUE

Dreadnoughts Arkansas and Wyoming Await Calmer Sea Before Attempting to Tow Helpless Nautilus to Port.

CRACKED CYLINDER DISABLES CRAFT

Navy Craft, Carrying Middies to Europe, Pick Up Distress Signals 50 Miles Away.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins' submarine, Nautilus, bound for the north pole, was disabled and tossed in heavy seas 1,000 miles west of France today with two American battleships standing by to take her in tow when the sea moderates.

The battleship Wyoming tonight had a heavy line near the disabled Nautilus but the storm-tossed submarine did not have enough power to maneuver itself into position to take it aboard.

The navy department was advised by Rear Admiral Claude C. Bloch, commanding the battleships Wyoming and Arkansas, about 11 p. m., eastern standard time, that the submarine had only enough power remaining in its batteries to send out emergency messages.

The message said it was hoped that after daylight it would be possible to get a line about the distressed submarine so that it could be taken in tow by one of the two warships. It added that it was impossible for the battleships to handle all the requests for news dispatches of the Wilkins' submarine because of the necessity of keeping in close touch with the situation.

Admiral Bloch said that apparently the conditions in the submarine had not been changed in the last few hours.

The Nautilus, in which Wilkins hopes to reach the north pole by navigating beneath the ice, had been running in about the distressed seas since leaving Provincetown, Mass., June 4.

A cracked cylinder caused failure of the starboard engine, an oil burner, yesterday and the craft was forced to proceed on its port engine alone at about eight knots, under good weather conditions. Rough water last night and today, however, coupled with failure of the batteries, made the position of the Nautilus so grave that she was forced to call for help.

Navy men here said that while the Arkansas and Wyoming are equipped to make many kinds of mechanical repairs, it apparently proved impossible to put the Nautilus' starboard engine in shape without putting into port.

They added that Admiral Bloch evidently had decided to take the submarine to Queenstown because battleships were scheduled to put in there and because the necessary facilities for repairing the cylinder might be available at the Irish port.

Aboard the Nautilus, in addition

Old Hall Site Bids To Be Offered Today

New bids for the old city hall site, which has been the nucleus of the borough government for three years, will be opened at 1 o'clock this afternoon by the buildings and grounds committee of the council.

Alderman Guy Coleman explained Sunday that there is little probability that a recommendation will reach the council floor this afternoon because of the short time in which to tabulate and consider the various bids which may be filed.

Under advertisements, all bids must be in the hands of the borough purchasing agent by noon today.

There were rumors that large interests are still seeking to obtain the tract under a long-term lease, but they could not be verified.

Asks 10-Year Plan

LIQUOR CONTROL REDUCES DRINKING

Canadian Consumption of Alcohol Recedes Under Present Plan.

CANADA SOLVES LIQUOR PROBLEM

The accompanying article is the second of a series of three written especially for The Constitution by Mr. Gratton O'Leary, associate editor of the Ottawa Journal.

There has been much controversy over Canada's solution of its liquor problem. The pendulum of argument has swung from the unrestrained condemnation of Mrs. Ella A. Boole, prohibition leader, to a belated view of anti-prohibitionists.

Mr. O'Leary's articles are sound because they are based on the facts and because they are based on the facts that have been made of Canadian liquor conditions. His figures are entirely new to the United States.

BY M. GRATTON O'LEARY,
Associate Editor of Ottawa Journal,
OTTAWA, Canada, June 14.—

When, ten years ago, Canadian citizens launched a campaign for repeal of prohibitory liquor laws, prohibitionists and anti-repealers argued vehemently that a system of government control would make it easier to get liquor, that there would be consequent increase in liquor consumption, more drunkenness, more lawlessness and crime.

A decade of government control, analyzed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, belies these assertions and predictions. Per capita consumption of liquor in these provinces today is not merely smaller than during the days of the saloon; it is actually less than during the years of prohibition. So, incidentally, are convictions for drunkenness.

In comparing the figures of liquor consumption under prohibition and liquor control, some important factors must be kept in mind. The first is that under prohibition liquor could not be obtained legally, and, as a consequence, there are no official or authoritative statistics on the actual quantity consumed.

What is known, however, is that under prohibition there grew up a black market bootlegging organizations, that blind pigs and speakeasies and illicit stills thrived; and it is confidently believed that if the quantity of liquor sold by these sources were added to the figures of that which was sold legally, then it would be disclosed that there was far more drinking, and far more liquor consumption under prohibition than at the present time.

Furthermore, in comparing statistics of liquor consumption under government control with the figures of consumption under prohibition, account must be taken of the fact that Canada at present is having an annual influx of 3,000,000 American tourists, and that these spend, on a conservative estimate, about $300,000,000 for liquor. Making allowance for this factor, and considering invisible bootlegging operations under prohibition, the conclusion is inescapable that Canadians today are drinking less.

Two Atlanta Girls in Honor Group At International Beauty Pageant

GALVESTON, Texas, June 14.—(AP)—That portion of the world interested in "certified" beauties prefers a blonde blue-eyed young woman weighing about 119 pounds.

This fact was demonstrated here today in a parade of 36 bathing girls from all parts of the United States and eight foreign nations.

Sans the aid of rouge, contestants in the twelfth international pageant of beauty rode in individual floats along the seawall boulevard. The young women were not required to enter the water.

WATER RATE FIGHT AND KEY 'CENSURE' TO COUNCIL TODAY

Several Other Important Measures Will Be Considered at Meeting This Afternoon.

With heated debates over whether Atlanta shall ask the Georgia assembly to remove restrictions surrounding water rates and a proposal to condemn Mayor James L. Key for his anti-prohibition utterances from Paris, the council of the borough this afternoon faces a busy session.

Although it makes little difference what the attitude of the council is regarding the proposed water provision changes, because a majority of the members of the legislature from Fulton already have said they never will agree to life charter restrictions protecting water users, the council is expected to engage in a heated wrangle over it.

The council's proposed removal of all restrictions is one of two proposals for raising the major portion of $1,600,000 needed to insure operation of all departments, including schools, for the remainder of the year. It has the sanction of both the finance and charter revision committees.

MILITIAN FIGHTS INCREASE.
The council also is expected to increase will be Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican, Alderman L. O. Mosely, Councilmen J. Frank Beck, John A. White and George B. Kyle, all of whom hold that the restrictions should remain and that other means should be found to cope with the borough's fiscal problem.

Beck and Councilman H. Turner Leehr will insist that a resolution offered by White to ensure Key and his family should be allowed to go to the United States, be taken from the table and finally disposed of at the session this afternoon.

Millican pointed out that approximately $200,000 could be saved by the borough in reducing its own expenses, adding that unless the borough takes steps to operate more economically, it cannot in good conscience ask voters for additional funds.

He is drafting what he termed a "drastic consolidation and reorganization program to lop employees not actually needed from pay rolls." A centralized accounting system and other economies would effect large annual savings, he believes.

The Millican reorganization paper, however, will not be ready for council action until after the next session, he said. Among other outstanding matters to be brought before the council this afternoon will be the following:

1. Proposal of Alderman Ben T. Huitt to levy a 10 per cent amusement tax, which is expected to net about $800,000 a year. This measure has the approval of the finance committee but an adverse report of the charter revision committee. A battle is expected over this.

2. Clarification of previous council resolutions so that the county can advertise at once bids for reconstruction of the Broad street viaduct, which is being urged by Alderman John F. Scott and other members of the council seeking to expedite actual start of the work in order to remove the "ever present danger to life and property caused by the unsafe bridge." Atlanta already has set up $34,000 and Fulton county has agreed to supplement this amount up to $34,000, if needed, to assist rebuilding of the structure.

3. Favorable report of the charter revision committee on the proposed new city charter, which would eliminate all department heads by council.

James Gerard Issues Call For U. S. Industry To Form 'Warm-Blooded 10-Year Plan'

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—A call to American industrialists to consider the feasibility of formulating a "warm blooded ten-year plan of democratic idealism" to meet "the cold-blooded communist five-year plan" was issued today by James W. Gerard, chairman of the commission on industrial inquiry of the National Civic Federation.

Gerard acted on the suggestion of Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and acting president of the National Civic Federation, who in a letter to Gerard declared the time has come for American industry to map out a 10-year program in an effort to eliminate the economic depression and instability.

The former ambassador to Germany, in a circular letter to more than 500 manufacturers, finance and labor organizations, has proposed that a congress of American industry be held soon to determine how best to act upon Woll's suggestions.

The labor leader's plans, Gerard declares, "may well change the whole course of our national history and affect for all time the well being of our nation and its people." Gerard asks industrialists to make known their attitude to the proposed congress.

"Economic depression is as necessary as the air we breathe," Woll wrote in his letter to Gerard, "if our nation is to perform the first essential of its existence, it must create working machinery to promote social safety and economic stability—or else we should not have all factories, hungry men and women, bulging with unemployment."

WICKERSHAM BODY NEAR TASK'S END NEW PLANE ROUTE WILL OPEN TODAY

Members Hope To Complete Task By July 1 "Dead Line."

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—A victory for the Wickersham commission in its race to complete in the 17 remaining days of its life the most extensive single survey of crime ever undertaken was forecast today from within the members of the commission.

Although reports on eight major investigations remained in the commission's hands today—24 months and 17 days after the survey was begun—the final link in the coast-to-coast system for Jackson and New Orleans. This will be the first air service of any kind to be established in Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The new route will then be Fort Worth, Dallas, Texarkana, Little Rock, Memphis, Nashville, Louisville and Cincinnati. The first mail service for Memphis as well as the first east and west passenger service for that city, and the first north and south passenger service for New Orleans.

Atlanta will be connected with Jackson, Memphis and New Orleans, forming the final link in the coast-to-coast system by picking up the western system of the Southern Transcontinental at Fort Worth. One extra plane a day will go through Atlanta for Chicago and Cleveland under the new system and will give this city a new tie-up with the middle west, according to J. G. Ingram, terminal manager for the American Airways, Inc., at Candler field.

The new routing will cut considerable distance and time by eliminating the roundabout route through Chicago from the New York

Father and Son To Be First To Beg Russell for Clemency

Richard B. Russell Jr., who with his father, Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, of the supreme court has done much to contribute to the success of various father and son movements will be called upon to prevent one "father and son" day almost immediately after he assumes office as governor of Georgia on June 27, it was learned Sunday.

This father and son day is scheduled for the death chamber at the state prison farm at Milledgeville at a late June or early July date to be set this week by Superior Judge J. R. Hutchinson, of the Tallapoosa circuit who is to fix the time for the scheduled execution of William Hulsey and his son, Fred, convicted slayers of Clifford Jones, young Rockmart man.

The convictions of the Hulseys were upheld by the supreme court last week and the father and son are expected to appear before Judge Hutchinson at Cedarhurst Friday or Saturday or as soon thereafter as the high tribunal's remittitur reaches the Tallapoosa circuit, to hear the date for their execution set.

William G. McRae, of Atlanta, chief of the Hulseys' counsel, visited the two condemned men in their cells at Milledgeville Sunday. They have been held at Rome since their convictions last year at Cedarhurst.

The Hulseys will appear before Judge Hutchinson as soon as the remittitur comes down and the date for their executions will then be set. McRae said, "Immediately thereafter I will file a clemency appeal with the state prison commission and prepare a petition for clemency to Mr. Russell."

HOOVER STARTS SPEAKING TOUR OF MIDDLE WEST

President's Three-Speech Itinerary Carries Him Into Places of Democratic Strength.

DALLIS WILL ATTEND MARION DEDICATION
Ernest E. Dallis, of the Johnson-Dallis Company, general advertising agency, will leave by plane this morning for Cincinnati, from where he will go to Marion, Ohio, to attend the dedication of the Harding Memorial Tuesday. The memorial will be dedicated by President Hoover.

Mr. Dallis will attend the ceremonies as a representative of the Georgia Marble Association. The memorial is a large, rectangular block of Georgia marble.

ORANGE, Va., June 14.—(AP)—President Hoover turned westward tonight for a three-day speaking trip into the states of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

It is his first extended tour since the congressional election of 1930 and the route leads him through the states where the democrats scored important gains.

The capitals of the three states will be visited and the president will appear before the legislative assembly of Illinois. As he travels through West Virginia tomorrow he will have with him Governor Conley, Senator Hatfield and other party leaders of the state.

Speaking tomorrow night at Indianapolis before the Indiana Republican Editorial Association, he will be afforded a platform for a discussion of policy which political leaders are awaiting with interest.

To Dedicate Tomb.
On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Hoover will travel to Coolidge at Marion, Ohio, for the dedication of the memorial to Warren G. Harding, leaving immediately for a brief visit to Columbus, Ohio.

Reaching Springfield, Ill., early Wednesday, he will go before the Illinois assembly and at his fishing camp, the Rapidan river nearby.

The president traveled here to board his special train after spending the night at his fishing camp, the Rapidan river nearby.

Mrs. Hoover and Allan Hoover joined the president on the trip. Other members of the party included Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown, who came from Ohio; Robt. Carl White, of Indiana, the assistant secretary of labor; the president's secretaries, Theodore G. Joslin and Miss Mary Richey; Captain Charles R. Train and Colonel Campbell Hodges, naval attaché at the Japanese camp, Mr. Hoover spent much of the time yesterday and today going over his three speeches.

Follows Boom.
The trip into the middle west follows closely the boom for Mr. Hoover sounded by cabinet members and some party leaders before the conference of young republicans at Washington.

Because of this, republicans working are inclined to attach some significance to the tour, although the president's announced speaking engagements are two months ago.

Daylight trips will be made across much of the territory by the president's special train. It will travel across West Virginia, through Kentucky and southern Ohio in going to Indianapolis tomorrow. The train is to reach the Indiana capital late in the afternoon.

After spending tomorrow night as the guest of Governor Leslie, of Indiana, Mr. Hoover will journey Tuesday morning to Marion, Ohio, reaching there just in time for the ceremonies.

From Columbus, Ohio, he will travel back across Indiana to Springfield by night. Leaving Springfield Wednesday evening, the president will reach Washington late Thursday afternoon.

The invitation to the West Virginia republican leaders to board the presidential train was regarded by observers as adding political significance to the trip. Governor Conley and Senator Hatfield will join the train at Charleston early tomorrow and ride to Huntington.

Detroit Mayor and Ford Official Clash Over Million-a-Month Dole

DETROIT, June 14.—(AP)—Frankly administered and that widespread fraud is being practiced by recipients of the weekly allowances.

The mayor came back sharply with a defense of the welfare department and called upon the Ford Company to lift the cloak of anonymity from the statement. The charges then were attributed to Harry H. Bennett, chief of the service department (private police) of the Ford company. The mayor then called together the 600 employees of the welfare department and, in a speech before them, challenged Henry or Edsel Ford, or the Ford Motor Company, to substantiate the charges.

GERMANY TO SEEK IMMEDIATE ACTION

Steps To Be Taken as Soon as Possible for Reparations Change.

BERLIN, June 14.—(AP)—Steps will be taken as soon as possible to obtain a revision of the Young plan, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and two of his cabinet members told the German people in political addresses today.

They also declared the emergency tax decrees recently promulgated are absolutely necessary to balance the country's budget.

Addressing briefly a meeting of Catholic workers at a centrist party meeting at Hildesheim, the chancellor appealed to his hearers to accept the decrees, declaring "the future of the nation is at stake and we must all be prepared to make sacrifices."

Also addressing the centrist meeting, Minister of Interior Wirth said the party's resolution to support the chancellor was its answer to those who, by talking at the decrees, were invoking "a policy of catastrophe."

"The reparations are unbearable," he said, "and we are all agreed that the Young plan needs revision, but the question remains: How can it best be done?"

The minister ended by appealing to the world to "keep its head" on the question of Germany's financial stability, declaring the recent events were a natural reflection of the unsettled condition of Europe.

"If common sense were used all

Two Die, Two Saved As Ferry Rams Launch

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Two men were drowned and a man and woman were rescued late today when their motor launch was wrecked in collision with a municipal ferryboat off Hudson Point.

The ferry Elmhurst, operated between Clinton Point and College Point, hit the small power craft Ada Iola as the ferry was leaving its slip, loaded with passengers.

Andrew Beck, 36, and Edward Walsh, were swept under the ferry and vanished.

Arthur Thornton, 41, and Rose Golan, 32, of White Plains, who were seated on the stern deck of the little craft, escaped injury. Thornton managed to beach his boat about 500 feet away.

Mayor Key To Sail For Home Tuesday

PARIS, June 14.—(UP)—Mayor James L. Key, of Atlanta, will sail for home Tuesday on the Ile De France, accompanying the American mayors who have been touring France.

BOAT OVERTURNS AS PASSENGERS RUSH TO ONE SIDE

Steamer St. Philbert Is Blown Against Rocks Off French Coast While Carrying Hundreds of Persons on Holiday Trip.

RESCUERS FIND EIGHT SURVIVORS

Pleasure Seekers Help Bring About Tragedy When They Become Panicky During Squall.

ST. NAZAIRE, France, June 14.—Nearly 500 excursionists are believed to have lost their lives when the excursion steamer St. Philbert sank this afternoon between St. Gildas point and Pornic, about five miles from here.

Only eight survivors had been picked up by rescue boats tonight. It was believed that, except for these, all the passengers and crew on the boat were lost.

The excursion steamer was carrying large holiday crowds on its run between Nantes and the Island of Noirmoutier. It left Nantes this morning.

The eight who were rescued from the water by boats which put out for the scene shortly after the catastrophe were men. There were a number of women and children aboard the boat.

A squall struck the boat, the survivors said, and knocked the small steamer over on her beam ends. The crowd, becoming panicky, rushed to the opposite side of the deck, causing the boat to capsize and spill its passengers into the sea.

The eight survivors were exhausted when they were picked up after more than an hour in the heavy sea. They were saved, they said, by lifebelts which they managed to grab before they were thrown into the water.

The first information about the catastrophe came from the lighthouse keeper at St. Gildas point.

The keeper saw the squall strike the boat and overturn it, and he immediately telephoned to Pornic for help.

Lifelines put out at the once for the spot where the boat went down. After they were on their way the keeper phoned the news to St. Nazaire.

Even after receipt of this news, the report that the boat had sunk was discredited here. It was only after the first of the survivors reached shore that the reality of the catastrophe was accepted.

The operating company continued to insist it was impossible for the boat to sink at this point, where the water is a natural reflection of the unsettled condition of Europe.

One of the survivors, an Austrian named Silanek, was picked up by the tug Pornic, which was sent out from St. Gildas point.

ASSISTANT AIR CHIEF*OF ARMY STOPS HERE

General Pratt Pays City

Short Visit on Way to California.

Brigadier General H. C. Pratt, assistant chief of the army air corps, the youngest general officer in the army, left Atlanta Sunday for Los Angeles, after spending Saturday night here as the guest of Lieutenant Raymond R. Brown, fourth corps air officer.

General Pratt arrived here Saturday afternoon from Washington en route to California, and was accompanied by his flying aide, Captain St. Clair Street. Captain Street is commander of the test section of the American air corps and was a member of the first expedition to fly to Alaska, in 1920.

The trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia, piloted by Captain J. Errol Boyd, accompanied by Ivan Gogwer, his mechanic, and two friends, arrived at Candler field Saturday night at 7 o'clock for a two or three-day layover before proceeding to Jacksonville and Miami. He said that he was here for repairs and to see the department of commerce concerning a license.

General Showers*Aid State Crops;*City Gets Relief

Georgia's estimated $10,000,000 peach crop for 1931 was not so seriously threatened by lack of rain Sunday, when thunder showers were general over the state, and the prospect for additional showers Tuesday and Wednesday were bright.

The temperature Sunday ranged between 70 and 92 degrees, and late in the afternoon a cooling relief hit the city in the form of raindrops, a single one of each being almost large enough for a shower bath. The skies in Atlanta today are slated to be clear but with a threat of a sudden shower at almost any time. Temperatures will be cooler.

BRAND URGES WOMEN*TO HELP PEACE CAUSE

GOURDON, France, June 14.—(P)

Foreign minister Aristide Briand this afternoon launched an earnest plea to the women of the world to support his work in behalf of universal peace with all their energies.

The veteran statesman, who a month ago was defeated for the presidency of France, defended his pacific policy before nearly 5,000 French war veterans and their mothers, wives, sisters and daughters.

"I count on the women," he shouted. "It is to them that I turn, and if I felt any profound joy today it is to see in their eyes so much joy at the thought that the cause of peace will continue to be defended."

Referring to the Kellogg peace treaty, M. Briand declared:

"I had the good fortune, in accord with the great republic of the United States, to cause a pact to be signed by all civilized nations—a pact which condemns war and which denounces it as a crime."

"It is not admissible that these civilized countries, having unanimously denounced war as a crime, would allow it to be reborn tomorrow under the influence of any aggression."

The foreign minister recalled the League of Nations' settlement of the Greco-Bulgarian dispute in 1928, and later of the Peruvian-Bolivian differences, saying that these settlements were a proof that the cause of peace has made progress.

In an outburst against his critics the foreign minister declared that he felt in the innermost sentiments of the French people a desire that he should continue in office.

Other members of his group went to London today.

Why?—The Right Things at the Right Price!

DOES this sound like hard times? Let's everybody stop talking about the last 12 months (incidentally, they were mighty good months in this modern store). We are thinking and planning for the future---we suggest you do, too. Atlanta is in much better condition than the bigger manufacturing centers. Watch our ads for merchandise that will keep giving you more for your dollar than even the low prices to which you've become accustomed.

Nate Lewis Predicts Strib Will Win Title by Quick Knockout; Eighth-Inning Rally Gives Chicks 7-5 Decision Over Crackers

LEWIS PREDICTS STRIB WILL WIN BY QUICK KAYO

Challenger Works Out
Before Large Crowd
Despite Hard Rain.

By Ralph McGill,
Staff Correspondent.
STRIKING'S TRAINING CAMP,
GEAUGA LAKE, Ohio, June 14.—Nate Lewis, Chicago matchmaker, who made the first big offer for the Stribling-Schelling fight, was at the ringside tonight as W. L. Stribling worked out and picked the Georgian to win by a knockout in the early rounds on the night of July 3.

"I think W. L. needs plenty of work," he said. "The boy is a tough one to knock out, but he should be. He has three weeks to go. I think he will be in shape and that he will win by a knockout in the early rounds."

And these, my friends, are no idle words. Nate Lewis has been in the game since he was crawling around the place saying "Da-da." He managed, among others, Pal Moore and Charley White, and he knows the value of a knockout in the early rounds.

NOT HIMSELF.
As for the young man himself, W. L. was not so good to the nude eye as he was on Saturday night when he was administering large doses of punishment to his corps of sparring mates. In no small amount of time, he enjoyed himself, but he was being hit now and then. Yet Pa's face was calm, as the boys say, and contented as could be. "Oh, you noticed that," he said. "Well, don't worry. The boy was just practicing rolling with them a bit and dodging."

HOW IT RAINED.
And so it was, W. L. wasn't hit yet to worry about. It had seemed that his defense wasn't as tight as it ordinarily is.

And here's something else. It rained here all afternoon, in the morning, pouring and otherwise making things all wet. It was raining as the first customers came in the gate. And yet 700 of them came.

MEANWHILE, over at the Stribling camp, W. L. had but three hours before he sat down to a dinner. And say folks, on that table was a string of beans cooked with Georgia ham, baked chicken, tomatoes, baked squash and new peas, and some corn muffins.

It was raining cats and dogs outside. W. L. took one look at that table and said, "I'll be damned with the rain. It looks like there will be no work out. Ma, put on some more of those beans and a slab of that ham. And tell Annie May to bring around with some of those muffins."

W. L. HAD TO WORK.
And then the rain stopped and the boy had to go in there and work. And even so he looked all right.

He boxed Gene Stanton, Sunny Jim Williams, Kato Kitts and Sam Ward one round each. And he looked like a shadow boxed another and did calisthenics for one more. He was hitting hard.

Stone Mountain Leavitt thinks Dick Daviscourt "ran out on him" when Dick failed to show up for their recent wrestling at the ball park. Dick is here now, in person, tougher than round steak cut from an old steer, insisting he was unavoidably detained away from Atlanta and keen to chip out a memorial of his own on Stone Mountain tonight. The show will be highly diverting to those who like their wrestling rare.

FIVE DAYS OF CRACKERS.
Prospects are that the home club will play three night games and two afternoon games in the five-day set with Memphis here this week.

R. J. Spiller, business manager of the Crackers, is still mulling over the problem of day versus night baseball. That is to say, he is wondering whether ALL games should be played at night, after all.

Gate receipts at matinees have dwindled away to mere chicken feed since the lights were installed.

DON'T OVERDO IT.
This column knows of at least one representative of the press, not so very far from this typewriter, who strongly urged that day games not be discontinued altogether.

Night baseball is just wonderful for some working men, but there are all sorts of working men. Some of them work at night. They deserve a break in way of a daylight game occasionally.

The tentative plan for staging the Memphis series now calls for games Tuesday night, Wednesday afternoon, Thursday night, Friday night and Saturday afternoon. That seems a division most likely to produce the maximum revenue, for after all the baseball company is in business of a very earnest sort.

SATURDAY GLAMOR FADES.
One strange development attributed to night games is that the Saturday crowds both day and night have fallen away to nothing. About 1,500 saw the final of the Little Rock series Saturday afternoon. Normally such a game would have attracted 4,000 paying guests. Night games on Saturdays already have proven unprofitable.

LOOKOUTS AND PELS COMING STRONG.
The Crackers, with what might be termed a crippled ball club, took three of the four games with Little Rock here last week. Perhaps this means that the Travelers have faded as a probable contender. Earlier, the Travelers were considered dangerous.

However, the Barons, for all their comfortable lead, have two challengers to consider. Chattanooga and New Orleans are pounding along ready to take hold of the race if the Barons weaken.

The Lookouts and the Pelicans have strengthened greatly since the season opened. They did their shopping while the counters were full of bargains and now they are well supplied for the campaign.

HOW IT HAPPENED.
Bert Niehoff and Joe Engel rebuilt their outfield with powerful hitters, added an infield cog and a couple of pitchers. What is more, they developed a fine team spirit and have been fighting for those one-run games.

New Orleans got Harrington back into the lineup and added Zeke Bonura, Eddie Rose, George Knothe, Mike Powers and Belve Bean. The child wonders were sent home to their parents early before they got into trouble.

The Chicks are having a time getting organized. They have shown flashes of form and serious slumps. The Chicks did some important shopping last week. They added Tommy Taylor and Andy Reese. These two can be used in either the outfield or infield. Doc Prothro is anxious to manage from the bench and serve as utility player. So the Chicks may get going once more.

THIS WILL NEVER DO.
All around the circuit the opinion is that the Barons, the Lookouts, the Pelicans and the Chicks are in the race.

They have come to ignore our Crackers completely. The Travelers also have been discarded as a possible contender.

Time is flying. The Crackers still have time to strengthen and get into the thick of it. The others have added power and pitching while our nine has been struggling along with inferior equipment.

CROSSED UP W. W.
"Wonder how come the May 30 issue of Sateed Evpost featured the tag of Bozeman Bulger and the contents of the mag offered nothing from his nimble pen?"—Walter Winchell.

The May 30 issue of the Saturday Evening Post had a fine article entitled "The Polo Pony Grows Up" signed by Bozeman Bulger. The signature was at the end of the story.

Bolt Hits Press Box; Scribes Wonder Why
Lightning struck the press box at Spiller field yesterday. During the afternoon thunderstorm, a bolt hit the wooden structure that is suspended under the roof and started a fire. Several companies answered an alarm and extinguished the blaze but damage was done to the floor and one wall. Telegraph and telephone instruments in the box were put out of commission.

The incident was witnessed by R. J. Spiller, business manager of the club, who was watching the storm at the time from the grand stand.

Several theories have been advanced to explain the occurrence. An afternoon newspaper representative whose name is withheld at his own request said it was undoubtedly a visitation of wrath for the evil practice of night baseball. One of the morning laborers was equally certain it happened because the overhead fans have been left out of commission for a week. A man at the soda fountain declared it must have been a mistake because none of the reporters were in the box at the time; he is a grouch anyhow.

However, the gentlemen of both sections of the press met shortly before dawn and agreed that it was a warning to stay away from the park this week. So a week's vacation has been ordered for all baseball writers.

GLASS' TROOP OF VIAT CLASH TONIGHT AT BALL FIELD

Leavitt, Daviscourt Set
for Feature; Lehman
Faces Catilino.

With the broad-shouldered and familiar figure of Dick Daviscourt having impeded Atlanta traffic ever since Saturday afternoon, and with Frank (Stone Mountain) Leavitt very much present and accounted for, all is in readiness for the long-unsung battle between these two as the feature bout on Henry Weber's all-star wrestling card at Spiller field tonight.

Charles Lehman, the Texas cowpuncher, and Tony Catilino, the minor earthquake from Italy, will endeavor to destroy each other in the one-hour limit semi-windup go, and another pair of those unsung heroes of the mat will come to grips to open what promises to be one of Weber's most successful cards promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

For some weeks past, ever since mention of a Daviscourt-Leavitt match was made, fans have been anxious to see what the 210-pound former policeman and soldier could do against such an experienced and resourceful grappler as the California veteran. They proved their interest by turning out in sizeable numbers on June 3, when the meeting was originally scheduled. Unfortunately, Daviscourt missed connections and could not be here then, but he is on hand now, and almost—though not quite—as anxious for the go as his gigantic adversary.

After pondering Daviscourt's wicker to the effect that he (Leavitt) was appropriately called "Stone Mountain" because he was about the same size and speed, the Soldier and his corps of winners came out Sunday with the following very creditable rejoinder:

"Mountains may not be fleet of foot, but many a mountain has guided many a man to victory. I was safely out of reach. Let Daviscourt be careful I don't turn into Vesuvius so far as he is concerned Monday night."

Fans are advised by Promoter Weber to get their tickets today at the Chandler Building Soda fountain or the Piedmont Hotel in order to avoid the rush at the Spiller park box office tonight. Ladies will be admitted, as usual, to any seat on the premises for $1.

TWELVE STARS OF LINKS OFF FOR TITLE MEET

Atlanta Leave for Chattanooga and Southern Amateur Play.

A dozen Atlanta golfers left the city Sunday for Chattanooga, Tenn., where they will put in a couple of practice rounds today in preparation for the southern amateur tournament which opens Tuesday on the Chattanooga Country Club course.

Others in the vanguard included Berrier Nor Jr., Charlie Yates Jr., Scott Hudson Jr., and L. R. Hunter, carrying the colors of East Lake Country Club; Bobby Chambers, Jack Brown, and J. H. McCall, Jr., from Druid Hills; Dan Sage Jr., and J. T. Jones Jr., from Ansley Park; and Tom Stewart and Travis Johnson, from Forest Hills.

Another large group of Atlanta golfers is expected to leave the city early this morning in time for an afternoon practice round.

The second round of the tournament, which is being made by Atlanta's youngsters to return the title to this city, W. G. Wynn's was the last Atlanta's name to be engraved on the southern amateur trophy and that was back in 1928 when he won at Dallas, Texas.

New Orleans holds the edge over other southern cities in the number of victories. The Pelican city has won the title 10 times, while Atlanta has won it seven for second place.

Colony Adams, president of the Southern Amateur Golf Association, will make the trip to Chattanooga Tuesday and assist members of the committee in making the pairings Tuesday night.

An effort has been made to have every state champion in the south qualify for the southern amateur this week. Dave Black, Georgia's champion, was undecided Sunday night as to his entry.

Tolleson Low
At West End Club.
Dr. T. E. Tolleson, with a 70, was medalist Sunday afternoon in the qualifying rounds of the West End club handicap golf tournament. J. W. Simmons was second place with a 77.

First round matches will start this afternoon and continue through the week. One week will be given to each round of play. Full handicaps will apply in each match.

John Adams, chairman of the tournament committee, and Albert Jones, club professional, will be in charge of the tournament.

Garlington Wins
Capital City Meet.
Dick Garlington, a former club champion, defeated C. B. Nunnally, 2-1, Sunday afternoon in the Capital City Country Club course to win the president's trophy tournament. It was one of the best matches of the tournament and Garlington forged ahead on the last four holes.

Young Sage Wins
Over Muggsy Smith.
Four matches were completed Sunday afternoon in the first round of the president's trophy tournament on the Ansley Park course. Dan Sage Jr. defeated Muggsy Smith, 2-1, in the feature match of the first flight.

Wagner, McAdams
Will Wrestle Friday
Eddie Wagner, of Macon, and Jack McAdams, of Atlanta, will meet Friday night at Almond park in the main match of a wrestling card to be sponsored by the Spanish War Veterans.

THE SPORTLIGHT By Grantland Rice

East and West.
The east took a good, old-fashioned beating from the west in the recent intercollegiate track and field meet at Franklin field. The west won the same beating from the far west.

There should be a different story at Poughkeepsie tomorrow. Washington and California have sent along two fine crews, but it will take a lot of pulling to row away from Cornell, Syracuse and Columbia—three of the greatest crews in the nation—when the nine shells start their four-mile drive on the Hudson in one of the greatest competitions 1931 will have to offer.

Washington, California and Wisconsin in all have high-class crews, but it would be no great surprise to see Cornell, Syracuse and Columbia take command of the last mile and fight it out in front.

Cornell men will tell you they have one of the greatest crews that ever came from Ithaca—Syracuse will tell you that the Orange never had a better eight. Columbia is ready and these are three that carry the hope of the east against the pride of the west.

At about the same time Wimbledon puts on its big tennis carnival in which the United States enters Shields, Wood, Loft and Van Ryn against the pick of British and French entries. Bill Tilden took over this championship last year, but Bill today is in a different field.

The British have a stronger entry list ready and the French, even if Cochet is missing, still have Borotra ready.

It will be interesting to see what this young American collection can do at Wimbledon before the later tests come in the Davis cup. The young American collection, including Wood, Loft and Van Ryn, will be one of the feature tennis stories of the year.

Jay's Punch Broke Up
Romance With Python
Susie, Hit in Nose, Squeezed Too Hard; Ballyhoo Man Tells All.

By Ralph McGill,
STRIKING'S TRAINING CAMP, GEAUGA LAKE, June 14.—"Do you know how to pick up a snake?" asked Mr. Jay Thomas, the personal publicity man for the Striblings, as we sat about the camp commenting on the Ohio weather, which is punk.

Taking advantage of the horrid silence, Mr. Thomas began. "You do not," he said, "pick up a snake by the nap of the neck as you would a baby or a cat. This hurts the snake's back and may make him very angry indeed. And it does not pay to make them angry, especially a python."

"But if you extend the arms, wide apart, and slide them under the snake and pick him up in that fashion, he will purr on your shoulder," continued Mr. Thomas in the horrid silence which prevailed. Mr. Thomas had the boys thinking.

"One year I was with a carnival outfit and helping with the snakes when my bag punching act was over," he said.

"I very quickly learned not to let a snake know that one had any of the hounds in him. A snake can sense the hounds in a man quicker than any other animal. They can all do it."

"I became very fond of a 50-foot python named Susie. Susie was a very excellent python and I became very fond of her indeed. Susie was a warm place to sleep and I used to let Susie sleep on top of my bed at night. She could coil up about 40 or 50 feet on my legs and go right off to sleep."

IT'S AN IDEA!
"Finally I conceived the idea that Susie and I might work together in my act, which was a bag-punching act. I started wearing a woolen sweater. Susie would coil about this, like the warmth of it and being very contented indeed."

"I liked the idea because I knew it would panic the boys and girls right out into the aisles. If I ever worked out the act, bag-punching with a python, I would be about as new as a daisy. And still I, I guess."

"Because one day I am out there punching the bag and thinking about nothing in particular. I am hitting hard and beating a merry tune. And a mistake."

"But Susie has stuck her head out to look around at something and what do I do but hit Susie a very violent blow right on the snout?"

"No snake likes to be hit on the snout, so Susie showed her resentment at an old friend treating her in such a fashion by contracting all the muscles in her 50 feet of length."

"My loud yelling for help brings in the boys and they get me out. But for one week I was a perfect 16 about the waist."

"This sort of discouraged me and so I gave up the act. There was no telling when I might accidentally slap Susie in the snout again and be cut right in two in front of the crowd. And I didn't want to panic them in that fashion."

DOBBERS CATCH FOES BUT FAIL TO HOLD MARGIN

Spurt in Sixth Wasted
Before Late Memphis
Attack.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 14.—The Chicks had to beat the Crackers—this afternoon before it took. They beat 'em, 7 to 5, in the first inning, and then had to score three runs in the eighth to finally beat 'em, 7 to 5.

It was one of those long drawn out, harum-scarum affairs in which Chick Prothro, of the Tribe, did some presiding with his bat, but the Tribe, really solved the trick. The Chicks used 15 players, including four pitchers, with Professor Emory Erwin "Kid" May in his first appearance at Russwood since his tardy return to the Tribe, being credited with the victory after pitching hitless ball in the seventh and eighth innings. Harry Kell, the rescuer of the Tribe, performed the feat for the second day, however, when he stopped a Cracker threat in the ninth.

The Chicks seemingly won the game in the first inning when they scored three runs off Hearn on three hits and two errors. The Crackers scored two off George Granger, starting Cracker hurler, on three hits in the third, and scored three more off him on three hits and an error in the sixth. In the meantime Davis had scored through the Tribe, getting a one off Davis in the seventh and three in the eighth.

Bernard Lewis, batting for May, started to start the eighth. Louis Chiozza was sent in to run for Lewis. Berger bunted to Davis, who threw into the dirt at first base and Sheehan, covering the bag, muffed the ball. Sheehan bunted to Davis, who threw into the dirt at first base and Sheehan, covering the bag, muffed the ball. Sheehan bunted to Davis, who threw into the dirt at first base and Sheehan, covering the bag, muffed the ball.

LAMOTTE DOUBLES.
Huey Harmon started pitching in the ninth for the Chicks and was greeted by a double by Bobbie Lamotte. Hammond, batting for Ryan, flied to left but when Harmon walked Davis, Chief Prothro, called Kelly from the bench. Kelly hit a double to Brazill, who made one stop and outtraced Barnes to first. Sheehan then flied to center and Kelly had a chance to catch another for the Tribe.

Heard had the Tribe leading 2-0 at the start by talking Williams, first up. Gillis singled to right and Williams scored and Gillis went to second when Sheehan took a throw from the Tribe by singling through to center. Scoring Gillis and Prothro flied out. Brazill flied back of first for a double, scoring Gillis and Prothro flied out.

CRACKERS GET TWO.
With two out in the third, Sheehan was then followed by singles by Taylor, Carlie and Shirley. Lamotte scored and ending with Taylor throwing out Carlie at third on Shirley's hit.

The Crackers went to the front in the sixth when Tait started it with his third straight single. With an easy double play in sight, Gillis, in his overcautiousness, booted Carlie's grounder. Shirley bunted to Granger, who forced Tait at third. Autry flied to center. Lamotte, a troublemaker for the Chicks, singled, scoring Carlie and taking second on a throw to the plate by Taylor for Carlie. Ryan dumped one over third, scoring Shirley and Lamotte and the Tribe celebrating his return to the Tribe by singling through to center. Scoring Gillis and Prothro flied out.

Washington's Winning Streak Fails To Distance Athletics

SENATORS TAKE SEVEN STRAIGHT IN GREAT BURST

Macks Hold Lead; Reds, Giants, Cubs Pace Nationals.

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

In the midst of another great winning streak, Washington's Senators stepped out last week and won seven straight games, only to find the champion Philadelphia Athletics still leading in the standing and fight on their heels in the race for weekly honors. The A's turned in six victories and one defeat. New York and Boston each won three games and lost one to complete the domination of the eastern clubs of the American league over the west.

In the National league, a closer race developed with three clubs tied for the week's best record. Cincinnati, New York and Chicago each won five games and lost two. The Boston Braves won four games and lost three to complete the first division of the week.

The Detroit Tigers were the week's low scoring team, tallying only 10 runs while the Chicago White Sox showed the greatest defensive weakness, allowing their opponent 57 runs.

Week's major league records follow:

Lookouts Pace Southern Clubs.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 14.—(AP)—Chattanooga's Lookouts established themselves as serious contenders for the Southern association pennant last week, and the Mobile Marines gave notice that they still are in the race.

The Lookouts won six games with only one defeat and Mobile took six of eight games played. Birmingham and Atlanta each won four times in seven tries.

Out of it all, Birmingham's margin of leadership was cut to six and one-half games as the week ended.

The week's data follows:

TEAM	W.	L.	R.	H.	E.	HR.
Chattanooga	6	1	42	71	10	33
Mobile	5	2	41	78	10	34
Birmingham	4	3	41	73	34	3
Atlanta	4	3	44	71	13	43
New Orleans	3	4	34	39	9	39
Nashville	3	4	29	79	12	68

WOMEN'S GOLF

CROWN IS WON BY MRS. LAKE

Mrs. Raymond Bows, 4-3, in Finals of Southern Tourney.

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., June 14.

(P)—Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, daughter of a New Orleans professional, today answered her last call to the tee in a Southern Women's Golf Association championship by defeating Mrs. Ruth Raymond of New Orleans, 4 and 3 for the 1931 crown.

For 33 holes these rivals battled over the Princess Anne Country Club course this morning and afternoon before Mrs. Lake could accomplish her triumph. They were all square as they went to lunch after 18 holes but Mrs. Lake drew steadily ahead during the afternoon round.

Mrs. Lake, who as Marion Turpie of New Orleans, won southern championships in 1928 and 1929, now lives in New York and played in this closed event by special invitation in observance of the twentieth anniversary of the association.

THE GUMPS—AT THE DROP OF THE HAT

GRAND HOTEL

By VICKI BAUM

INSTALLMENT XXX.

"You need more capital," said Preysing, quite rightly. Gerstenkorn swept this aside with two of his fingers.

"Capital! Capital! We have only to issue shares to have all the money we want, chucked at us. We don't need capital. We need cheap raw material so that we can profit to the full by our new process, and we need new outlets for export abroad. I'll tell you the views of the company quite frankly, Herr Generaldirektor. If the amalgamation were of any help to us in these directions, then we're for it. Otherwise not. Now, please, if you have anything to say?"

Poor Preysing! If he had anything to say! He threw a timid glance across at Zinnowitz, but Zinnowitz was examining his well-tended bloodless fingernails and made no reply.

"It is no secret that we have excellent connections abroad," he said. "It stands to reason that in the event of an amalgamation we should do everything in our power to open up a bigger foreign market for your products too."

"Are there any circumstances that would enable you to give this assurance a more definite form?" asked Dr. Waits from lower down the table.

"Can you tell me what circumstances you mean?" asked Zinnowitz, standing up. "I deal with facts, not with rumors. It is no more than a stock-exchange rumor that we meditated a business arrangement with Burleigh & Son."

"You can't take in an old stage like me with a tale like that. We all know what such contradictions are worth," Gerstenkorn threw in. "Schweimann perked up. Preysing began to lose his temper.

"I refuse," he shouted. "I refuse to have this affair with England mixed up with the business before us. I am not going to reckon with castles in the air. I have never done so, and with a business like ours it is not necessary. I reckon with facts, with actualities, with figures. Our balance—here it is," he cried, and he snatched three times with the flat of his hand on the file of papers before him. "This is what counts and nothing else has got to count."

"Herr Generaldirektor Preysing is conscientious to an exemplary degree," Justizrat Zinnowitz said. "I don't know whether his scruples over allowing the affair with Manchester to be brought into discussion in any way are not unjustified, or at any rate exaggerated. Why should not a matter that looks so promising be thrown into the scales, even though it is not in black and white?"

"Why? Because I could not answer for it," interrupted Preysing.

"Our friend Preysing," the Justizrat went on, "perhaps carries his scruples too far. His company is said to be on the point of concluding a very favorable agreement with the excellent old firm of Burleigh & Son. And what has Preysing to say to it? He resists the imputation as though he were being called a bankrupt. Granted that it is actually no more than a rumor—all the same, there is no smoke without fire, as we all know. And an old businessman like Kommerzienrat Gerstenkorn will agree that some rumors are worth more than many a signed agreement. But as legal adviser for many years past to the Fredersdorf business, I may be permitted to say that the rumor forebodes perfectly definite arrangements. You must forgive me, my dear Preysing, if I don't maintain the same inflexible discretion as yourself. There is no object in denying that negotiations of a far-reaching kind have already proceeded a long way. In my opinion, it reflects the highest credit upon Herr Preysing that in this quixotic fashion he refuses to throw this affair into the scales as an asset of his company. Nothing could be more straightforward and gentlemanly. But it gets us no further. So you will pardon me if I take these gentlemen into our confidence in this matter."

Zinnowitz floundered on with his conciliatory discourse. Preysing had gone pale. So, thought he, Zinnowitz has shown them the letters. Good God, but that's swindling. It is not far from actual fraud. "Negotiations" finally broken off. Brosemann, he thought, and he saw the blue-black and blurred writing of the telegram. Gerstenkorn broke in roughly. "There's no object in our legal friend talking himself hoarse," he said, leaning over the table. "Before we say any more, I must ask Herr Preysing to tell us plainly how far the negotiations with Burleigh & Son have gone."

"I refuse," said Preysing.

"I insist on it, I am to continue the discussion," said Gerstenkorn.

"Then," said Preysing, "I beg you in any further discussion to regard that matter as non-existent."

"Am I to conclude then that all prospects of an agreement with Burleigh & Son are over?" asked Gerstenkorn.

"Conclude what you like," said Preysing.

At this they were all silent for nearly a minute.

"Then I suppose there's nothing further to be said for the present," Gerstenkorn said finally. "I suppose we may as well conclude our little discussion. We can always continue it in writing."

He got up, and his chair made a groan in the thick pile carpet of this very handsome conference chamber. Preysing, however, kept his seat. He took out a cigar with elaborate care, and with elaborate care cut off its end; then he lit it, took a pull, and began to smoke with an abstracted and deeply meditative expression on his face. His cheeks were speckled with tiny red veins.

There is no doubt that General Director Preysing was a thoroughly respectable man, of principle, a good husband and father, a man who stood for organization and order and the strongholds of convention. His life went in a program. It lay open to inspection like a map, and the sight of it could not fail to please. It was a life of card indexes, of red tape, of many pigeon holes and much hard work. He had never yet committed the least irregularity. Nevertheless, there must have been a bad spot in him somewhere, a minute nucleus of moral disease which was destined to get a hold on him and bring him low. Yes, there must, in spite of all, have been just the merest trace of some inflammation, some microscopic speck on the irreproachable purity of his moral waistcoat.

He uttered no cry for help at this fatal moment when the conference was broken off, though his plight was bad enough now to justify a cry for help and succor. He stood up, gripping his chair between his teeth, as he felt for something in his waistcoat pocket with a sensation of complete drunkenness.

"Pity," he said casually, amazed at the careless tone of his voice, as if issued from his mouth past his cigar. "Great pity. What is deferred is done with. So that's the end of that. And now that you have broken off, I don't mind telling you that we put through the agreement with Burleigh & Son last night. I got the news early this morning."

"A population of 500,000 by 1935" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

W. A. BAILER INVENTS FRUIT-PICKING BAG

W. A. Bailer, general manager of the M. D. Smith Tent & Awning Company, has just been granted his third patent on an article made of canvas, and one that will be a great money saver to the fruit industry.

The latest patent of Mr. Bailer's is a fruit-picking bag that will enable apple, pear, plum, orange and grapefruit pickers to pick more fruit in a day, and at the same time prevent the fruit from being bruised in any way by the quick handling of the pickers.

The device is a bag made in the form of a large capital D, and the top of the D is where the fruit is put in; but the real advantage is in how the fruit is let out of the bag. This is done by the picker quickly pulling up a tubular slide that would be like raising the front side of the letter up half way. This tubular metal slide operates with but little effort up and down the front edges of the canvas bag, as these edges are turned around stout pieces of rope that hold two edges rigid as needed.

The bottom of the bag, which holds a bushel of fruit, is like the bottom part of the capital D, but is open for about 12 inches. The edges here are also turned around two more separate pieces of the same stout rope, but with the slide down the front. The bottom edges will not separate enough to allow even the smallest kinds of fruit to fall out, but when the front slide is pulled up half way an article as large as a watermelon can quickly slip out.

This improved fruit-picking bag has the advantage of speed, and ease of operation; the pickers do not have to stoop to unload, and can give their two hands to the guidance of the fruit. This bag will retain no moisture, and will not soon rot or become foul-smelling.

The Bailer bag has another advantage that will make it very popular with fruit pickers, and that is the top or mouth side of the bag has a piece of half-inch rope wound around the opening. This rope, while concealed and protected under the roll edge of the canvas, makes a rigid opening on the outside.

Leading apple growers of Georgia pronounce this fruit-picking bag the best they have ever seen, and predict

Shorter Hours Urged As Depression Cure

ATLANTA CITY, N. J., June 14.—(AP)—Shorter working days, a shorter working week, constantly increasing wages and further development of workers' trade union organizations were recommended as "cures" for the depression today by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

SHOE SHOP INSTALLS IMPROVED STITCHER

The Quick Service Shoe Company, located under Jacob's Drug Store, Alabama and Broad streets, are better able than ever to live up to their name, in rendering quick service, by the aid of their new McKay shoe stitching machine.

This new McKay stitcher is the last word in improved shoe stitching machines, and represents nearly half a century of shoe machine improvement.

In the hands of a skilled operator, this machine will quickly and neatly sew the thinnest of soles on turns or welt the finest of women's shoes.

It will also quickly sew the heavy best grade of shoes. In either case the operation does not take more than a minute, and is in line with their other quick service methods.

The manager of this enterprising shoe rebuilding shop, L. R. Chappell, has had many years of experience in shoe repairing, and has surrounded himself with a group of experienced workmen, who take pride in all the work they turn out.

The shop, in addition to shoe repairing, operates one of the largest shoe shining departments in the city. The drying of shoes in all colors, is also one of their departments that is assuming a major importance. They also have many shoes sent them by people from out of town to be repaired or dyed.

It will be widely adopted by the fruit growers once they learn of its many improved features in facilitating the gathering and not bruising any kind of fruit.

CALLAWAY ENDORSES COTTON BAGGING USE

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 14.—(Special).—Cason J. Callaway, of LaGrange, Ga., president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, has written Harold C. Booker, secretary of the Association for the Increased Use of Cotton, that the mills with which he is connected will allow seven pounds extra weight to be added to all bales of cotton bought by them if put up in 100 per cent cotton bagging, Mr. Booker announced last night.

Mr. Callaway also sent Mr. Booker a copy of a letter which he has mailed to all cotton mills in the south asking that they co-operate with the growers by following the same policy. In his letter to the southern mills he announces the policy to be followed by his own mills.

Recently the Association for the Increased Use of Cotton was notified by S. Odenheimer, president of the Lane Cotton Mills, New Orleans, that his mills would allow the extra weight to be added when the bales were wrapped in standard cotton bagging.

Following the receipt of Mr. Odenheimer's offer, the association wrote Mr. Callaway as president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association asking that all other mills in the south make the same offer.

In his letter to the mills of the south Mr. Callaway states that "the Association for the Increased Use of Cotton, as well as a great many farmers, ginners and farm organizations" had taken the matter up with him. He says that the request seems reasonable to him and that his mills will comply with it and will notify all of their suppliers of cotton to this effect.

DEWEY GROUP URGES REFUSAL OF RATE HIKE

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—The League of Independent Political Action, headed by Dr. John Dewey, of Columbia University, in a letter made public today, urged the interstate commerce commission to deny the railroad's petition for a 15 per cent freight rate increase. The league asked to present evidence at commission hearings.

"Our principal reason for protest," the letter stated, "is that so largely railroad ownership is in the hands of wealthy groups and individuals who have not seriously been affected by the depression and who will not suffer if their petition is denied."

"On the other hand," the letter added, "such an increase in rates will only plunge the farmers and masses of consumers into deeper distress."

I. C. C. Expected To Approve Rate Hike With Reservations

Sullivan Believes Commission Will Deal With Railroads' Application As An Emergency Measure.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—What the interstate commerce commission will do when the railroad's formally apply for a 15 per cent rate increase can be no more than surmised. The commission, in deciding on rates, is as independent a branch of the government as the supreme court and fully as free in arriving at its own judgments. Just as in the case of the court, however, persons who watch the course of the commission and become familiar with the precedents it has made are able to infer, to some degree, what the action of the commission is likely to be in a case like this.

Although there are as many shades of individual or group thought among the eleven members of the commission as among the nine justices of the supreme court, the common expectation is that the net of the commission view will be favorable to the railroad's petition, but that the commission's permission, if given, will be accompanied by several qualifications and suggestions.

A very general belief is that the commission will accord to the railroad's application the status of an emergency, and will give it a preferential position in time and a prompt decision. A frequent belief is that the commission may name some such figure as 10 per cent rather than 15 as the limit of rate increase. It is also expected that the commission will suggest to the railroad some steps outside the field of rates which the railroad can and should take. As it has been expressed by a railroad man, they anticipate they may be told by the commission to "put their own house in order."

Multiplication of Service. One such suggestion would be that the railroad curtail some of their competitive practices which under present conditions are not in the public interest. An example sometimes mentioned is the wasteful multiplication of passenger services between New York and Chicago and Chicago and St. Louis.

It is agreed by some representatives of the railroad that some of their lowest and most unremunerative freight rates, and some of their most wasteful practices, have not been forced upon them by the commission or by the law, but have been adopted themselves in spirit of competition that is excessive under present conditions.

Yet other low rates or wasteful practices have been expressed by the railroad as powerful shippers, or through the railroad going to un-sound lengths in order to get the business of some shippers.

It should be understood by the public that while the railroad's petition for the increase in rates will be granted by the commission, it will be by no means follow that a blanket increase will take place. Without attempting to describe details of procedure, the railroad would receive, in effect, a permission to raise rates. They would avail themselves of the permission in only a comparatively small fraction of commodities. It is doubtful if a railroad contemplates any material increase in rates on any important farm commodities for example. There are other commodities as to which an increase in freight rates would be utterly impracticable and uneconomical.

Consolidation of Lines. A point likely to be brought up in some connection in the near future is the consolidation which the railroad have been under a command to effect by a law passed by congress 11 years ago.

It was intended by congress that this consolidation would be the largest single step possible in railroad economy and stability. Some, though not all, railroads have approached consolidation less with an eye solely upon the public interest, than under the influence of individual pride or individual interest. Some, though not all, railroads have made their progress toward consolidation along lines of jealousy which resulted in competitive purchase of smaller lines at extravagant prices.

A whimsical suggestion has been made by a very important railroad man who has been moved to distaste by some of his associates. His suggestion is that the heads of the railroads in regions which resulted in competitive purchase of smaller lines at extravagant prices.

DRIVER STILL HELD IN ROSAMOND DEATH

A charge of manslaughter Sunday was docketed against Thurman Moreland, 28, alleged driver of the truck which figured in the death of Motor-cycle Officer H. T. Rosamond, 38, at College Park, Saturday, and his bond fixed at $10,000. A companion, Claude Mooney, 20, was released.

Moreland told police that he had cut over to make a left turn off of North Main street into West Cambridge street in College Park, when a motorcycle ridden by the officer struck his left front wheel, veered off and hurtled into a telephone pole.

He voiced the opinion that the officer was chasing a speeder and told the police that his truck had almost reached a standstill.

College Park police Sunday night stated that they had detained Moreland and his companion for questioning and that Mooney was released when it was ascertained that Moreland was driving. They stated further that witnesses had been found who stated that the story told by Moreland was virtually correct. There were a few discrepancies in his statement, they said, that they must check up on for further.

Arrangements were being made Sunday night to obtain bail for him and in the event that this is done he probably will not be given a hearing before the recorder of College Park within a week, the police declared.

Services for Officer Rosamond will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at LaGrange, his former home. The body was sent there Sunday by A. C. Hemperley & Sons, of East Point. Interment will be in the LaGrange cemetery today following the services. He is survived by his wife, six children and a brother.

ATLANTA FIRM LANDS HUGE PUMP CONTRACT

Burford, Hall & Smith, power and pumping plant contractors, of Atlanta, with offices in the Red Rock building, were recently awarded a contract by the city of Nashville, Tenn., amounting to $130,000. The contract covers new pumping machinery complete with foundations, piping, electric cables, auxiliaries, etc., erected and put into operation. This equipment will be installed at the city waterworks river pumping plant.

The equipment includes what is termed a high-lift and a low-lift pump. The high-lift unit comprises a De Laval steam turbine driving a De Laval centrifugal pump, which has a capacity of 20,000,000 gallons of water daily. This water being pumped to a large storage clear-water reservoir located at a high elevation in the city. This turbine also drives an electric generator which furnishes current to operate an electric motor the electric motor being used to drive a low-lift pump. The low-lift pump, having a capacity of 20,000,000 gallons of water daily takes the water directly from the river and pumps it to the filtration plant, where it is treated before it is pumped to the storage reservoir mentioned above.

This pumping layout selected by the city officials is a very efficient arrangement, the scheme being used by several of the modern plants in the south, among which are the city waterworks plants at Knoxville and Birmingham.

Burford, Hall & Smith will execute the contract under the supervision of Captain George Rye, superintendent of the waterworks, and R. L. Lawrence, engineer. It will require about one year to complete the work.

MRS. ARCH ROOSEVELT WINS WET GROUP POST

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt has been appointed national secretary of the women's organization for National Prohibition Reform, succeeding Mrs. Courtland Nicoll, who resigned last week before sailing to spend the summer in Europe.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been a member of the national executive committee and chairman of the junior committee of the New York state division.

"I have been fortunate enough to have had a part in the organization since the very beginning," said Mrs. Roosevelt in commenting on her appointment.

"It has been a great privilege to know and work with the high-minded and public-spirited women who are giving unstintingly of their strength and time in order to rid our country of the evils which the present system of prohibition has brought about."

Demand for Vacation Needs

Proves Aid to Retail Trade
 BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
 NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Business enters the last half of June with little change noticeable in recent rates of activity.

Retail trade, stimulated by store sales and demand for vacation necessities and extras, looks somewhat better, but the wholesale branch has not fared so well. Retailers are apparently keeping stocks at low levels, endeavoring to maintain a nice balance with consumptive demand. The fact that the decline into mid-summer dullness by most industrial has been gradual, unmarked by violent contractions, is regarded favorably. Of course, the position even at the spring peak was relatively poor and the appearance of a quite normal reaction has been discouraging to producers of goods. Hopes for much of an improvement before late summer or early autumn are believed unwarranted in many quarters.

HIGHLIGHTS OF WALL STREET

By CHARLES W. STORM,
 Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The backbone of pessimism has been broken. Improvement in business and the security markets is expected, though it will be painfully slow, according to some of the most prominent and economic authorities in the street. Important developments in the railroad department of the stock list also have been noted. The most important kind of buying has been appearing in the transportation shares in anticipation of favorable developments in the transportation field next week.

A quiet but irregular stock market was witnessed Saturday, with the pivot issues closing with fractional net losses. Some further short selling and profit-taking caused heaviness and losses of from 1 to 2 points in the first hour, but the market recovered. The outcome has been the elimination of numerous trade practices which have complicated the operations of the market. The new practices have also eliminated the price-cutting evils which prevented the companies from being operated at a profit.

The definite steps taken by the leaders in the industry to restore a better market in tires already have resulted in bettering the competitive operating positions this year in spite of the continued low volume of sales. Kelly Springfield is declared to be the first company to begin showing betterment. BIG SHOW READY. Preparations are being made for the big show week of the New York Curb Exchange in the ordinary shares of the Woolworth company, Ltd., the British subsidiary of the American Woolworth company. A market similar to the comprehensive one that attended the introduction of Ford, Ltd., on the curb is predicted.

Another strong and outstanding feature of Saturday's market was witnessed in Mack Truck which advanced nearly 2 points on reports that the company was planning a material change for the better and that the profits for the second quarter would more than offset the deficit reported for the first three months of this year. Amusement shares were also inclined to show strength with Warner Brothers and Paramount. The activity at a new high figure for the recovery.

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.—(AP)—Trading in the cotton market was moderately active during the past week and prices fluctuated somewhat. The market was generally encouraged by the general advance in prices. The one exception to the optimism was the slump in German bonds. The gains were so small and irregular, from day to day, as to escape notice by many observers. However, a comparison of the closing level with those of a week previously reveals a broad, if moderate, advance. The market was generally encouraged by the general advance in prices. The one exception to the optimism was the slump in German bonds.
